DIFFERENCE BETWEEN BERBERINE HYDROCHLORIDE AND BERBERIS VULGARIS:

- Berberine Hydrochloride: An active form of berberine in which it is bound to chloride to improve absorption in the body. This may increase its bioavailability, making its effects faster and more potent.
- Pure Berberine: Berberine in its natural form. Although effective, it may be absorbed more slowly than the hydrochloride form.
- Quality and Potency: Berberine hydrochloride is generally considered more potent because of its greater bioavailability. However, both forms are effective.

WHEN CHOOSING BETWEEN THE TWO, BERBERINE HYDROCHLORIDE MAY PROVIDE FASTER RESULTS BECAUSE OF ITS BETTER ABSORPTION. HOWEVER,BOTH ARE GOOD OPTIONS, DEPENDING ON INDIVIDUAL NEEDS AND THE BODY'S RESPONSE.
